The Cranberry Meeting.
The summer session of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers Association was held at the Gaynor Hotel on Tuesday. There was a large crowd in attendance, probably between two and three hundred people.

The visitors were fed in the hall across the road from the house, and everybody seemed to thoroughly appreciate the good things that were set before them.

After dinner at about two o'clock the business meeting of the association was called to order in the grove near the house, where there were a number of addresses delivered.

Among those who spoke were Judge Jaynor, Dean Russell of the University of Wisconsin, Prof. Stoddard of the University, Prof. Cox, the Wisconsin man, A. C. Bennett, Prof. Macdonald, an entomologist at the experimental station, and O. G. Malde of the experiment station. Their talks were very interesting, and especially to the cranberry men and their papers will be published in future issues of the Tribune where it is possible to do so.

A. C. Bennett was elected a delegate to the state meeting of horticulturists.

The ladies who prepare and serve the dinner at these annual cranberry meetings are entitled special praise for the manner in which they do the work.

A Flower Fete.
A Flower Fete on High St. for Aug. 21 is the project of the city celebration's entertainment committee. This promises to be one of the most delightful occasions of the season and preparations to entertain a large crowd are in progress.

A progressive tea will be served from five o'clock on at the homes of Mesdames Pessu, Mallon, Conway, Hamilton and Ellis.

A color column in floral decorations is arranged for each course.

The fete will please both the eye and palate and knowledge that the proceeds will be added to the funds in reserve for the use of the Park Commission for beautifying the city will add zest to the occasion.

Concert and Dance.
The Maeder orchestra of Appleton, Wis., has been engaged by the Fraternal Amuseur Association for a concert and dance, Thursday evening, Aug. 3rd at Stafford's hall. This will be a musical treat for Grand Rapids citizens.

Prof. Hennover, instructor of music in Lawrence university, with the Maeder orchestra this morning and the endorsements he has received is very commendable; and not every member is an artist in his profession and to say that they will please those in attendance is stating kindly.

A concert of one hour's duration will be given, after which the dance will follow. The charge for concert and dance will be $1.00. Concert alone, 25 cents.

Death of Celia Lemke.
Celia, the six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lemke, died on Thursday after an illness of seven weeks, cause of death being kidney trouble.

Celia was a bright, loving little girl, and even at her young age had displayed unusual mental ability, and the loss to all the more keenly felt by her parents and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lemke certainly have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

The funeral was held on Saturday from the home, services being conducted by Rev. Madison of the Moravian church, the remains being interred in Forest Hill cemetery.

Council Holds Meetings.
The council met in special session on Monday evening for the purpose of considering and passing on the west side drainage matter. The preliminaries, however, had not been completed and the drainage matter was laid over until the next meeting. Two ordinances were passed which prohibit the playing of baseball on any of the streets of the city, and the stopping of teams on the streets or bridge between the Wood County bank and the MacKinnon block. An adjournment was then taken until Tuesday night when the council met again to consider the drainage matter, but after an animated discussion the matter was laid over until some future time.

A Few Secrets Worth Knowing.
—Special notice to the ladies of Grand Rapids:
Miss Aurie Phillips of Chicago is now demonstrating E. Burman's new toilettes at JOHNSON AND TAIT, CO. store, instructing the ladies how to use these celebrated toilet preparations in the privacy of their own homes successfully. The fact is that she teaches and shows the ladies themselves so thoroughly that the results are equally as good as if they had visited the celebrated Beautifying Parlors of E. Burman at 70 and 73 State St.
E. Burman is the largest toilet goods manufacturer in the world, employing upward of 400 people in his establishment and doing a business upward of one million and half per annum. He has been in the business for forty two years. His beautifying parlors are known to the world over and his style of hair dressing and methods of beautifying and improving the complexion are copied by hundreds of other corners. His styles of hair dressing are copied by all French journals.
Miss Phillips absolutely reaches crowns, blackheads, moth patches, freckles, dark and discolored skin in five or six treatments free of charge, putting the face in a healthy, normal, youthful condition. This something that has never been done by any demonstrator, who has visited our city before. The secrets that she teaches the ladies how to improve and care for their complexions—of great value, and each and every lady is invited to call in the morning and have a free demonstration, which will be given privately. At any time during the day, Miss Phillips will be glad to explain to you how to remedy any of the defects which you possess. She is also giving out little booklet the correct movements in massaging the face and also how to use the different articles in the privacy of your own home.
Here for one week only.
Place come early, as invariably during the latter part of the week there are more applications than she can take care of.
Yours very respectfully,
JOHNSON AND TAIT CO.

Frank Newman of this city Miss Gladie Kline of Sherry married in this city on Wednesday Rev. Ludwig of Almont. The bride was attended by the Misses A. Merrick and Marie Evanson and groom by Willis and Lester O. brothers of the bride. After a wedding trip to Minneapolis and St. Dakota they will return to this where they will go to housekeeping in a home on the west side recently purchased by Mr. Newman. Most of the young people are well and fairly known, the bride being a recent graduate of the Wood County Teachers school and a most estimable young lady, while the groom is an industrious and steady young man, employed as one of the electricians in the Consolidated. The Tribune tends congratulations.

Ruth, Lemke, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lemke, broke her arm on Wednesday while playing with some companions. The children were playing with a dog, which was taken by the animal would bring to the door. During the play the dog ran against little Ruth, knocking her down and fracturing the bone in the arm.

In the United States court Minneapolis last Saturday afternoon the Wisconsin Central railroad filed $27,000 for granting rebates to shippers. Two officials of the court were also fined $2,000 and $1,000 respectively, for paying the rebates. The officers fined are E. J. Johnson, former general freight agent, George Kney, assistant general freight agent. The rebates were paid Minneapolis grain firms.

Frank Bowd of Marshfield, chairman of the middle weight wrestling of the world had no trouble in winning Willie Wiltz at Dale Saturday night. It was a handpick match in which the champion was to throw the blacksmith three times in one minute. He succeeded in doing it in two minutes. The first fall made in sixteen minutes, the second in five and the third in eleven.

The state Federation of Labor is dissatisfied with the $30,000,000 which the government has sent onto the Standard Oil Company. Well, they are not the only ones who are dissatisfied, because everyone knows that if John D. has to pay that it will come out of the pockets of the people. A jail sentence if the men were guilty of wrongdoing, would have been more to the taste of the people in general.

—Manager Hamilton has been to secure the play "The Orange Blossoms" at the Grand Wednesday night owing to the fact that the Stevens Point house where they were booked is not going to open this season and they were obliged to cancel their engagement there.

This attraction is first class, every respect and deserves patronage.

The two overalls who have been holding religious services, with headquarters across from the post office, have moved. The people of Grand Rapids do not seem to be so ready to this sort of religious services as a consequence business has rather dull from the start.

John Larz, at one time a resident of Grand Rapids, but for many years a resident of Portage county, Stevens Point on Wednesday week. He was seventy-four years of age and a brother of David Larz of this city.

Miss Caroline Martini of Portage and Miss Noyes of Racine were visiting at the home of Mrs. G. Martini on their way from Alton. Miss Martini is a sister of Mrs. C. Martini.

—Mrs. E. M. Allerton, president of the Millinery stock of Miss Reed and will remove it to the east side, where it will be sold at from 25 to 50 cents on the dollar. See her for bargains.

ILLS OF HUMANITY.

The Demonomological Theory of Disease and its Curious Phases.

The earliest conception of disease seems to have been that evil spirits for the time being took possession of the body, says the British Medical Journal. This general notion expressed itself in various ways.

The Hindoos built temples to the goddess of smallpox—a fact used with deadly effect by Edmund Burke in his impeachment of Warren Hastings, whose apologists had pointed to the temples erected to the goddess of the natives as evidence of the mildness of his rule. The Romans had no fewer than three shrines dedicated to the goddess of fever, which was doubtless malaria. As to the present day, there is a church in Rome dedicated to our lady of fever, which is a lineal descendant of these shrines.

Another belief was that the demon of disease was introduced by evil-disposed persons by means of magic found such beliefs as that disease caused by ghosts of the deceased, the spirits of animals killed and invading the living. The notions must be carefully distinguished from the later concept that a punishment inflicted by a deity.

This notion of the causation of disease naturally led to methods of treatment directed to the dislodgment of the demonic intruder. Some who were bored in the sick room, could provide an outlet for the evil spirit might escape. The most common plan of exorcism disease was to run naked, unshod, unclad, and unclean, as possible. The patient was starved, smoked with evil substances, and drenched with foul things that the savage mind could conceive.

In the matter of medication, the system of ejecting the evil spirit by making the transgressor what he established in as far as possible uninhabitable was originally founded had died out, and it is not even now entirely extinct. The horrible concoctions prescribed by doctors in the middle ages might soon have been intended for the forcible eviction of evil spirits. Mediaeval pharmacy is fairly represented by the contents of the witches' cauldron in "Macbeth."

The demonological theory of disease held sway over the minds of men for thousands of years. But if the simple pathology of primitive men could not augment, the scientific theories of our time will reflect on the appalling consequences of that belief translated into action. It was the notion that disease was caused by demons that led to the belief in witchcraft, which survived in full vigor till the seventeenth century, and is not by any means extinct in this century of light. The belief in witchcraft caused the persecution and judicial murder of countless human beings, chiefly old women, guilty of nothing worse than eccentricity or madness. The medical profession, any justly proud of its scientific attainments, is not less responsible for the deaths of the cattle and respectable regard.

teaching of some of its members abolition of atrocities which the heart sick was mainly due.

Witchcraft is by no means yet, and, as readers of J. K. Mans know, "Satanism" was "black mass" and the like things have still a fascination of certain kind of morbidity. With these things the theory of disease is connected. The same superstition survives under other form in the doctrines many at the present day that is the result of sin, and that is in itself sinful. From the springs the rank growth of every which makes the good truth in the minds of so those to whom the higher has failed to teach the right their reason.

The inspection of nurseries should be carried on continuously if results are to be obtained up to the present time the material for such inspections have been inadequate in most of the states.

The lack of organic matter is fully noticed by the soil running dry and baking, after heavy rains is a danger signal.

Think of the strength wasted in wagons that need greasing.

SMALL ITEMS OF TOILET.

Coquettish Frigories Have Immense Vogue This Season.

There is really no describing the smartening influence of the myriad little lace and embroidery details of the fashionable woman's toilette, and this fact was never more apparent than this season, when so many tailored and semi-tailored frocks are embellished with separate chemisettes, revers, cuffs, etc., of elaborate and intricate designs.

Flounces of all kinds have won Persian favor, and coquettish effects obtained by their clever manipulation, even though they be ever so simple and inexpensive.

It is the girl who understands how to make and how to wear these dainty accessories who appears well dressed. A white duck skirt worn with a hand-made lace band-embroidered blouse made and finished by a good-looking belt and tie or stock is always in good taste this time of year, provided it is all dainty and fresh, the belt carefully adjusted, the skirt securely fastened and no white petticoats dipping the duck skirt in the back.

A full-length glass or a well-dressing mirror should be consulted before going out. It is very dry to have petticoats and underskirts long enough for the feet to shrink must be considered, linen or duck skirt particularly to "blat" at the back.

Braided Coat Is Good Style This Season.

The loose coat, sleeveless in the back, square neck, high outline, and eminently practical worn by Parisiennes now and is largely braided, not on big motifs of soutache, but all a fashion now forgotten for many years, and very well it is.

Later on for autumn suits there will prove a skirt worn with skirt and now in thick cord with silklen braid, over a flimsy it is very successful.

Bodies of gowns are sometimes treated in the same way, and capes and coats; but the loveliest is the smartest. The matches in that.

"America has become a land of nervous emotionalists, largely owing to our sins against the dietic health laws of nature."

"Only outdoor exercise in a cold climate would enable vigorous individuals of our species to dispel the clouds forced upon alimentary organs entailed by sedentary occupations," wrote Dr. Felix Oswald.

Brain workers must have different food than laborers, because brain workers use up parts of the brain and nerve centers, while physical labor uses up other parts of the body.

Grape-Nuts, a food for brain workers, prepared by scientific food makers, is a pure, natural food made from selected parts of field grains known to contain the natural phosphate of potash and other elements required by the system in rebuilding and repairing the brain and nerve centers. This food is skillfully cooked at the factory and is ready to be used and digested with cream. At all first-class grocers and made by the Postum Co., at Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little health classic, "The Load to Wellville," in pages, "There's a Reason."

Brushing is, as every one knows, highly beneficial to the hair, and should not be neglected night and morning. Electrical treatments are also excellent for stimulating growth and curbing a tendency to come out. These have been known to produce results where everything else seemed to have failed.

Scalp foods, tonics, and electrical treatments with scientific care of the scalp will often, if the matter is taken in time, check tanning gray and restore to the hair roots their vigor. Boy in Misy 12 Years—Eczema in Rough Scales, Itching and Inflammation—Cured by Cuticura.

"Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my skin. As an infant I noticed on my body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of my body. During the day it would get worse and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave me a bottle of Cuticura. I tried it, and I decided to give Cuticura a trial. I had used the first box of Cuticura Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Remedies my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 200 South Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 18, 1906."

Everything, even a magnificent church, must be regarded from the point of view of the beholder. A London paper says that two country girls, who acted as if they might be enjoying a holiday from domestic service, were observed walking down the aisles of St. Paul's Cathedral. The great dome of the church stood and gazed around her with an air of such wonder that a spectator might well suppose that she was awestruck by her solemn surroundings. But when she spoke, the idea was dissipated. "Oh, Sarah," she exclaimed, "wouldn't this place take a long time to sweep?"

Queer Idea of Enjoyment

Dr. Juliet Severance writes in the Vegetarian Magazine: "Under the impression of a class when I was in medical college in 1858. The man had gout and rheumatism, both the small and large joints being inflamed, and his suffering was severe. Dr. R. T. Trail, professor of anatomy and practice, was explaining to us the importance of a very strict and abstemious diet. The poor fellow tried vainly to turn his head, and grunted out: 'I can't go that; I want to enjoy life while I live!'

Concerning His Business

A Boston lawyer, who brought his wife from his native Dublin, while cross-examining the plaintiff in a divorce trial, brought forth the following: "You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?" "Yes, sir." "Do you drink yourself?" "That's my business," angrily. Whereupon the unmoved lawyer asked: "Have you any other business?" "Everybody's."

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headache, dizziness, languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. J. A. Moore, proprietor of a tea-house and caterer at Waterbury, Mo., says: "I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the legs and feet weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought me great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

Neighbor's Comment in Which There Seems a Strain of Sarcasm.

"Yes," the leader of the amateur brass band was saying to his curious neighbor, "I have an effect leaving to play a horn has on some persons. I used to be a pretty good bass singer, but I can't sing worth a cent now."

"Does learning to play a horn spoil the voice?" asked his next-door neighbor.

"It did mine."

"How do you account for it?"

"I don't know how to account for it. I strain the vocal chords, perhaps. All I know is that I blow my voice out through the mouthpiece of my horn."

ON THE TRAIL OF THE AMERICAN MISSIONARY

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

This illustrated American Journalist is Traveling Around the World for the Purpose of Investigating the American Foreign Missionary Work. Illustrated with Drawings and from Photographs.

THE IDEAL MISSION FIELD IS IN NORTHERN KOREA.

Pyeng Yang, Korea.

The missionaries are the only white people in Pyeng Yang, except one French tradesman and a French priest. Their social solidarity is as marked as the unity of their labors. The three hostesses are all of one age, although maintaining, in some respects, their separate identity. The largest is the Presbyterian hospital, conducted by Dr. J. H. Wells, and ministering to about 10,000 patients a year. Dr. E. D. Fullwell, at the Methodist hospital, treats about 8,000, and Dr. Hall, whose work is entirely for women, about 5,000 patients a year. Jointly, the two men doctors are training 22 students, who not only pay for their instruction, but for the privilege of working in the hospital, but are among the patients. One notable characteristic of these hospitals, which are almost entirely self-supporting, is the adaptation to the Korean style of living. While they have wards containing beds, most of their patients sleep on the floor as in their own homes, and are there treated. Like Korean houses these wards have heated floors. Dr. Wells has been conspicuously successful in curing the morphine habit, which the Japanese have introduced among the Koreans.

Where Religion Has Introduced Bath.

All of these congregations are entirely self-supporting, and they maintain several religious enterprises, such as day schools, colporteurs and a book store and library. They have even a school for the blind, and have

Teaching the East to Hustle.

The schools are cooperative. He understood that there is no public school system throughout Korea. Before the missionaries came, the higher class boys were taught the Chinese classics. The creation of the popular taste for learning, as was the introduction of most of the literature in the language of the plain people, may be credited to the missionaries. It is quite general for native churches to maintain primary schools for secular instruction. There are in this district a host of higher academies, and the demand for education and by no means small. It is probable that the missionaries will soon have to forego all direct teaching and become superintendents of instruction. The strategic importance to Christianity of such a demand for education is apparent at a glance.

In Pyeng Yang proper are three noteworthy schools. One is the college, with 300 students, all of whom are Christians and all of whom pass a strict examination. This is taught by both Methodist and Presbyterian missionaries and by native teachers. It is expected shortly to grow into a Christian college with a thousand students. There is also a girls' high school with about a hundred students. It was much started by the industrial school attached to the college, where some students work their way through an education. Here they have a genuine blacksmith shop, machine shop and carpenter shop, all of which are producing marketable wares. The machine shop, for instance, is unable to supply the demand for a certain building machine which it turns out. The industry and the skill shown by the student workers would seem to indicate unexpected capabilities on the part of the Korean. This establishment more nearly resembled a bona fide workshop than any other industrial school I recall.

The manager of this industrial school is Rev. Grayson, a native of the United States. In addition to running the industrial school he is the pastor of the largest church in Korea, and has charge of 40 country churches besides.

Like Story-Book Missions.

This suggests the country work that centers in Pyeng Yang, and one peculiar phase of Korean missions. The church here is self-supporting. The churches spring up almost in a night, without ever having seen a missionary. The Korean Christians are true to the faith. The missionary is expected to be an evangelist. Thus it comes to pass, that, by the telling of the news from mouth to mouth, the number of believers spreads with greater rapidity than the missionary can follow. It seems literally true here that the missionary cannot keep up with the work, much less lead it. A few days ago Dr. Wells and Dr. Sharrock went to Wiju, a city north of here, which figured often in the war dispatches. En route they stopped at a small country congregation. The first night, in a little village of about 1,200 inhabitants, they found a prayer meeting under way—the regular mid-week service, with no less than 700 persons present. This, be it remembered, was in a village where no missionary resides, and where no white people visit often, except on a quest for trade. The next night they came to a village of about 1,000 people, and found a similar scene. The third night they reached a village of about 1,000 people, and found a similar scene. The fourth night they reached a village of about 1,000 people, and found a similar scene. The fifth night they reached a village of about 1,000 people, and found a similar scene. JOHN HAY AND THE CRANK.

How Unwelcome Visitor Was Diplomatically Disposed Of.

This anecdote of Lincoln's administration was told several years ago by Mr. Hay at a dinner at the White House. At the private secretary, President Lincoln, it fell to Mr. Hay's lot to receive the cranks who daily called at the White House to see the president, and who even at that time were not a few in number. One day

"The president will be delighted to receive you when you come again," said Mr. Hay, rising quickly and extending his hand, adding as the visitor started to leave, "and perhaps you will bring a letter of introduction from your father."—Detroit Free Press.

WARM DAY DAINTIES

EXCELLENT FOR SUMMER AFTER-NOON TEAS.

Departure from the Old-Fashioned Meat and Bread Sandwich—Beverages to Take the Place of Iced Tea.

Everyone has been tired of the old-fashioned meat and bread sandwiches and something new that will please the palate on hot and sultry afternoons will surely be welcomed. A very economical way of using up one of the most popular of the new sandwiches is made as follows:

Take the yolks of six hard-boiled eggs and rub them to a paste, and mix it with the same quantity of cold fat that has chilled in the ice box. Spread this mixture on crisp lettuce leaves, add a dash of catsup or mayonnaise, and spread between thin slices of white bread.

Another sandwich that can be made in a few moments' notice is by chopping two large crisp cucumbers very fine, and add to this a little onion juice, just enough to give it a flavor, and a little salt of cayenne, pepper, and a dash of catsup or mayonnaise, dressing and spread on thin slices of white bread.

Instead of the peanut butter that comes prepared in cans and has stood in the shops for months, shell and take a quart of peanuts, shell and chop them, and then put them through the coffee mill or very fine chopping machine. Salt this to suit your taste, and add to it enough nut wine, sherry, or any home-made wine to make it a soft paste. Spread on buttered white bread.

By now, you may have become tired of the ice tea, and it is too warm for chocolate, and nothing is more refreshing than the following punch served to a friend on a hot afternoon. Get a heaping quart of cold water, add a half-gallon of ginger beer, a quart of boiling water, and let it stand for a few moments—covered. Strain this into a bowl or large pitcher, add one pound of sugar, juice of six lemons, and two oranges, and a quart of apricots. Be liberal with your ice, and it will also add to the flavor. In a few days, when you have raspberries, add a can of raspberries, and a can of orange juice. This recipe will make ample punch for a dozen people.

Fruit Punches—Take a pint of fresh raspberries and a quart of currants, wash and then bruise them. Pour over the quart of water, and add a half-gallon of ginger beer (preferably brown). Let this come to a boil very slowly, then remove and strain through a jelly bag. This should be allowed to cool, then set on the fire. It should be served in individual glasses with a large piece of ice. Another fruit punch is made by first boiling one pint of sugar with one quart of water and the juice of two lemons. Into this grate the rind of three oranges. Let it boil several minutes, then set it aside to cool. Then pour your punch bowl or pitcher, and add plenty of ice, and slice three oranges very thin, cutting the pieces in half. Take six oranges and squeeze only the juice into the pitcher or bowl, and a pineapple cut in very thin, small pieces. Over this pour the syrup that has cooled, and then add any berries you may have.

AT A BRIDAL LUNCHEON.

Some Novel Ideas Added Zest to Entertainment.

At a luncheon given in honor of a bride-to-be the charming idea for the dessert course was pink ice in heart-shaped form, surrounded by a little white sand slipper in which were a few grains of pink covered with crystallized rose petals.

A silver-plated in one of the slippers designed the next bride.

Heart-shaped pink cakes were served with the cream. At the conclusion of the luncheon the bride-to-be was showered with the rice in the slippers.

A novel and pretty rosebowl seen was made from a cabbage. The clever hostess said that she arranged it in this manner:

With a sharp knife she cut out the entire center, making a bowl of water, holes were punctured in the bottom, then it was set in a shallow glass dish filled with water.

It was filled with pink roses; at its base feathery asparagus was arranged, completely hiding the dish. The lovely delicate green flats in the cabbage made a charming contrast to the pink of the roses.

Hints for the Cakes.

Have a brisk, hot fire for layer cakes; a slow one for fruit cakes. Do not slam your oven door or kitchen door when cake is in oven. If oven gets hot set in can of cold water. Settling away from the pan are indications cake is ready to leave oven. When removed set cake on sieve so a free circulation of air is around it. Never frost the lower side of cake; always turn right side up. A tin chest or stone jar is best to keep it in. For cakes or cookies that call for soda if a teaspoonful of baking powder is used with it it will be much safer.

Stuffed Beefsteak.

Take a round beefsteak and fill it with dressing. Fold together lengthwise and pin the edges together with toothpicks. Any dressing such as is used for turkey may be used. Place in a pot, with a slice of pickled pork in the bottom, and boil for an hour; then turn all into the dripping pan and brown in the oven. Serve with the pan gravy. Cut across the roll.

Olives Sandwiches.

Cut whole wheat bread into thin slices, spreading the butter on it while it is on the loaf and slaving it as thin as possible with a sharp knife. Spread on the loaf is best for this. Chop ripe olives fine and place a layer of them between the two sides of the sandwich. If you like highly seasoned food sprinkle the olives with a little paprika or Hungarian red pepper.

Eggless Cake.

Two cups brown sugar, one-half cup butter, two cups sour milk, two teaspoons soda, two cups chopped raisins, one-half teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, four to make quite stiff. A nice nutmeg and a dash of orange juice. Bake in a greased tin for one hour.

Green Shades in Nursery.

Discard the white shades and replace with green ones and baby will enjoy a midday nap. The green is much better than the glare of the white for baby's eyes.

WARM DAY DAINTIES

EXCELLENT FOR SUMMER AFTER-NOON TEAS.

Departure from the Old-Fashioned Meat and Bread Sandwich—Beverages to Take the Place of Iced Tea.

Everyone has been tired of the old-fashioned meat and bread sandwiches and something new that will please the palate on hot and sultry afternoons will surely be welcomed. A very economical way of using up one of the most popular of the new sandwiches is made as follows:

Take the yolks of six hard-boiled eggs and rub them to a paste, and mix it with the same quantity of cold fat that has chilled in the ice box. Spread this mixture on crisp lettuce leaves, add a dash of catsup or mayonnaise, and spread between thin slices of white bread.

Another sandwich that can be made in a few moments' notice is by chopping two large crisp cucumbers very fine, and add to this a little onion juice, just enough to give it a flavor, and a little salt of cayenne, pepper, and a dash of catsup or mayonnaise, dressing and spread on thin slices of white bread.

Instead of the peanut butter that comes prepared in cans and has stood in the shops for months, shell and take a quart of peanuts, shell and chop them, and then put them through the coffee mill or very fine chopping machine. Salt this to suit your taste, and add to it enough nut wine, sherry, or any home-made wine to make it a soft paste. Spread on buttered white bread.

By now, you may have become tired of the ice tea, and it is too warm for chocolate, and nothing is more refreshing than the following punch served to a friend on a hot afternoon. Get a heaping quart of cold water, add a half-gallon of ginger beer, a quart of boiling water, and let it stand for a few moments—covered. Strain this into a bowl or large pitcher, add one pound of sugar, juice of six lemons, and two oranges, and a quart of apricots. Be liberal with your ice, and it will also add to the flavor. In a few days, when you have raspberries, add a can of raspberries, and a can of orange juice. This recipe will make ample punch for a dozen people.

Fruit Punches—Take a pint of fresh raspberries and a quart of currants, wash and then bruise them. Pour over the quart of water, and add a half-gallon of ginger beer (preferably brown). Let this come to a boil very slowly, then remove and strain through a jelly bag. This should be allowed to cool, then set on the fire. It should be served in individual glasses with a large piece of ice. Another fruit punch is made by first boiling one pint of sugar with one quart of water and the juice of two lemons. Into this grate the rind of three oranges. Let it boil several minutes, then set it aside to cool. Then pour your punch bowl or pitcher, and add plenty of ice, and slice three oranges very thin, cutting the pieces in half. Take six oranges and squeeze only the juice into the pitcher or bowl, and a pineapple cut in very thin, small pieces. Over this pour the syrup that has cooled, and then add any berries you may have.

AT A BRIDAL LUNCHEON.

Some Novel Ideas Added Zest to Entertainment.

At a luncheon given in honor of a bride-to-be the charming idea for the dessert course was pink ice in heart-shaped form, surrounded by a little white sand slipper in which were a few grains of pink covered with crystallized rose petals.

A silver-plated in one of the slippers designed the next bride.

Heart-shaped pink cakes were served with the cream. At the conclusion of the luncheon the bride-to-be was showered with the rice in the slippers.

The Cranberry Meeting.

The summer session of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers Association was held at the Gaylor Bros. market on Tuesday. There was a large crowd in attendance, probably between two and three hundred people.

The visitors were fed in the hall across the road from the house, and everybody seemed to thoroughly appreciate the good things that were set before them.

After dinner at about two o'clock the business meeting of the association was called to order in the grove near the house, where there were a number of addresses delivered. Among those who spoke were Judge Gaylor, Dean Russell of the University of Wisconsin, Prof. Stoddard of the University, Prof. Cox, the weather man, A. Bennett, Prof. Hardenberg, and others. The weather man, A. Bennett, Prof. Hardenberg, and others. The weather man, A. Bennett, Prof. Hardenberg, and others.

A O Bennett was elected a delegate to the state meeting of horticulturists.

The ladies who prepare and serve the dinner at these annual cranberry meetings are entitled special praise for the manner in which they do the work.

Death of Celia Lemko.

Celia, the six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lemko, died on Thursday after an illness of seven weeks, cause of death being kidney trouble.

Celia was a bright, loving little girl, and even at her young age had displayed unusual musical ability, and the loss is all the more keenly felt by her parents and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lemko certainly have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

The funeral was held on Saturday from the home, services being conducted by Rev. Madison of the Moravian church, the remains being interred in Forest Hill cemetery.

Council Holds Meetings.

The council met in special session on Monday evening for the purpose of considering and passing on the west side drainage matter. The preliminary, however, had not been completed and the drainage matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Two ordinances were passed which prohibit the playing of baseball on the streets, leaving horses untied on any of the streets of the city, and the stopping of teams on the streets or bridge between the Wood County bank and the MacKinnon block. An adjournment was then taken until Tuesday night when the council met again to consider the drainage matter, but after an animated discussion the matter was laid over until some future time.

A Few Secrets Worth Knowing.

—Special notice to the ladies of Grand Rapids.

Miss Aurie Phillips of Chicago is now demonstrating L. Kurlbaum's Facial Regulator at JOHNSON AND HILL CO. store, instructing the ladies how to use these celebrated toilet regulators in the privacy of their own homes successfully. The fact is that she teaches and shows the ladies their use so thoroughly that the results are equally as good as if they had visited the celebrated Beautifying Parlors of E. Purnham at 70 and 72 State St.

L. Kurlbaum is the largest toilet goods manufacturer in the world, employing upwards of 400 people in his establishment and doing a business of one million and a half per annum. He has been in the business for forty-two years. His Beautifying parlors are known the world over and his style of hair dressing and methods of beautifying and improving the complexion are copied by thousands of other concerns. His styles of hair dressing are copied by all French hairdressers.

Miss Phillips is a thoroughly trained cosmetologist at the experience station, and O. G. Malde of the experiment station. Their talks were very interesting and specially to the cranberry man and their papers will be published in future issues of the Tribune where it is possible to do so.
